Give two hours on MLK Day, help East Anchorage neighbors

A Volunteer Opportunity with United Way

Anchorage AK – United Way of Anchorage has a good way for you to spend two hours of your “Day On” Monday in honor of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

From 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday, January 21, United Way will lead volunteers to distribute door hangers throughout the Susitna Elementary School neighborhood in Muldoon. The door hangers will have contacts for Alaska 2-1-1, the free, statewide phone and online service that connects Alaskans in need to organizations that can help and the upcoming free tax preparation events to help low-income Alaskans maximize their earned income tax credits and refunds.

Volunteers can register online at www.bethechange907.org, or just show up at Susitna Elementary by 11 a.m. to sign in. Volunteers will be outside so should dress for the weather; United Way will provide hot cocoa and coffee.

Come join us to invest a few hours of your day off in the spirit of Rev. King and Live United.
